4.	ABC Enterprises is a multinational company that manufactures consumer electronics. The company has recently expanded into new markets and is focused on improving internal communication among its teams to enhance productivity, streamline operations, and foster a positive work culture. The management team at ABC Enterprises has observed that there are several communication challenges within the organization. These challenges include miscommunication during meetings, unclear emails, misunderstandings in cross-departmental collaborations, and increasing levels of stress among employees. As part of their strategy to address these issues, they are organizing a series of workshops and training sessions to improve business communication and soft skills. Scenario: In one of the recent team meetings, the Marketing Department and the Production Department met to discuss a new product launch. However, there was significant confusion about the product features and the launch timeline. During the meeting, the manager from the Marketing team, Mr. Ravi, appeared tense and used defensive gestures such as crossing his arms and avoiding eye contact when discussing issues. Meanwhile, the head of the Production team, Ms. Priya, was nodding her head frequently but not paying full attention to the discussion, and later admitted she hadn't fully understood the new marketing strategy. Post-meeting feedback revealed that employees in both departments felt stressed due to a lack of clarity in the communication process. Additionally, the production team was unsure about the final product specifications, and the marketing team did not feel their concerns were being acknowledged. In response to these issues, the company decided to focus on the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1.Enhancing business communication across departments.</li> <li>2.Fostering better listening skills and effective communication practices.</li> <li>3.Improving gesture and posture during meetings to avoid misunderstandings.</li> <li>4.Promoting professional etiquette and stress management techniques.</li> </ol> Answer the following Questions Based on the Case Study: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1.Based on the scenario, explain how clear business communication could have prevented the confusion during the product launch meeting. (2Marks)</li> <li>2.Refer to the case study where Mr. Ravi's posture (crossing his arms) and lack of eye contact were noted. Discuss how his non-verbal behavior may have affected communication within the team. (3Marks)</li> <li>3.After reviewing the case study, identify two characteristics of communication that could have improved the outcome of the meeting. (1Mark)</li> <li>4.In the scenario, Ms. Priya nodded but admitted to not fully understanding the marketing strategy. Explain how this relates to the difference between listening and hearing. (2Marks)</li> </ol>

5. Suppose Mr. Ravi from the Marketing Department needs to apologize for the communication breakdown and clarify the marketing strategy to the Production Department. What type of letter would he write, and why? (2Marks)

6. Reflecting on the case study, discuss two professional etiquettes that could have improved the interaction between the departments and reduced stress levels. (2Marks)

7. The case study mentions growing stress among employees. Identify two signs of stress that may have been evident in the scenario, and explain how they can be managed. (2Marks)

8. Given the issues raised in the case study, what are two of the “C’s” of team building that could help improve collaboration and communication between the Marketing and Production teams? (1Mark)

Q.1.	Read the given case study and answer the questions: Savori is a startup that plans to launch a premium line of handcrafted chocolates, targeting affluent consumers who value quality, exclusivity, and sustainability. The brand's unique selling point is rare cocoa beans and artisanal production, making it distinct from mass-market chocolate brands. The chocolates are marketed as a symbol of distinction, aiming to attract buyers who are willing to pay a premium for unique, high-quality goods. Savori's production is labour-intensive, requiring skilled artisans and rare ingredients, which leads to costs of factory setup, marketing, etc. and other costs of raw materials and labour. The company's initial focus is on small-scale production, ensuring quality while balancing the need for cost efficiency as it scales up. As production grows, unit costs should decrease, but maintaining quality remains a priority. External factors such as rising cocoa prices and inflation may impact production costs and margins. Savori could mitigate

	these risks by securing long-term contracts suppliers with or exploring alternative ingredients. Additionally, economic downturns could affect consumer spending, but Savori's strategy of offering chocolates as a luxury product could help sustain demand. QUESTIONS: QA) What types of inflation could affect the sales of Savori chocolates? QB) With reference to Savori chocolates, explain the application of Snob and Veblen Effects in business decision making. QC) Classify the types of costs that Savori would incur while producing chocolates.	05	CO4
